The long sought-after goal has finally been fulfilled through blood, sweat, toil, and tears. They've reached the lime light of their high school years — they are seniors and they've earned it. "Earned what?" Respect, dignity, prosperity, and senior lunch. — "Oh Yeah." Grabbing all the gusto along the way, they did it. Through thick and thin, over hill and dale, and barely escaping "Senioritis" — achievement is theirs. Yet haven't they only just begun?

I'm kinda glad I'm getting out now after twelve years — this has been the most "picturesque" out of all of 'em.

—Lester Groth

I barely got a word in edgewise with Mrs. Parrigan telling me to "be quiet" every second.

—Kristi Larabee

I can only say that no matter how much you want something, chances are you won't get it. The one thing to remember though, is to never stop trying to achieve your goals. Though they may seem trivial and obscure to some, they are yours and no one else's. Fortunately, our society provides us with one mandatory goal: should we be without one, to educate ourselves so that we may fare well in our future. For this I extend my thanks and farewell to J.M.H.S."

P.S.A.T. scores arrive, surprising many with their unknown brilliances and ignorances. Mum directory and carnation sales supply juniors with a loaded bank account and high hopes for their senior prom.*

Sophomores make their presence known as they hit the half-way mark in their high school career. Remembering their first year of upperclassmen's tortures, sophomores take their turn at bat against the fish. Sadism is short-lived, however, as they soon become aware that we're all in this together.

"Who could forget the time I was so bored in Spanish that I had to leave campus for a scenic ride in the country in my VW without my teacher or the registrar knowing and then returning nonchalantly to class?"

—Maverick Sensiba

"Armed with our invincible swords of knowledge and wit, we sophomores easily surpassed our school counterparts in every field of academics, athletics, and mischievousness."

—Fernando Pena

"Mr. Posey's easy tests in chemistry made my sophomore year unforgettable."

—Sharon Mitchell

"I always remember the time I took a post-dive from the fifth stair in the science wing."

Sophomore sponsors Mr. John Bordano and Ms. Sue Pritchard.

Kirk Steel knows it pays to be a sophomore.

Paul Black wonders "HOW" he got brave enough to attend the Patriot Convention

Freshmen spend the majority of their first year as Rams, learning the floor plan of Marshall and trying to live down the title of "fish." Ninth graders battle the age old problem of apathy as their voices dominate pep rallies and shriek through the halls. The discovery is soon made that the fun has just begun.

"Graduating from Fish this year will make it easier to swim next year."

—Pat Cillo

"Being a fish ain't as bad as it is said to be"

—David Reed

"It was DY-NO-MITE!"

—Pam Barron

"My freshman year was like the top of the ninth, 2-1, and I was behind."

Ram Band

Long hours of dedicated planning and work bring feelings of satisfaction to each member as the Ram Band captures a 1st division rating at U.I.L. district contest. Ram Band members practice from sun-up to sundown in order to perfect songs and memorize new drills. Through fierce cold spells, mud, and driving rain, members continue forming their picturesque patterns in motion. Pep rallies, concerts, private lessons, and special rehearsals and performances all show that a Ram Band member's work never ends.

Cindy adds a bit of excitement to half-time.

Sylvia warms up before her performance.

Ram Band displays talent.

Practice makes perfect.

Mr. Lewis conducts stage band with an air of confidence.

Stage Band Performs . . .

Eudell really gets it on.

Kenneth performs on baritone sax.

Jon Sanders displays his talent on valve trombone.

Stage band performs.

From "Northside" to John Marshall High School, the Mighty Rams Band and the high-stepping Ramblertettes have hit the field at half times—together—for the past twenty-five years. While the Pep Squad has seen three different directors, Mr. Bob Lewis continues to direct the Bands of Marshall. Celebrating John Marshall's 25th Silver Anniversary year, these pages represent the changes of the two organizations, and offer a nostalgic view of the past.

¡Amistad Adelante!

Ole! ¡Amistad Adelante! . . . the cry of Spanish Club members all around John Marshall. Buenos, chalupa sales, and cascarrones all keep members busy, not to exclude the annual PASF convention and the Concursos Hispanico Competition held each year at St. Mary's Hall. 1974-1975 brought new experiences Barrie Barber is sent to the state Convention as a candidate for 1st vice-president and returns holding a new office of honor and hard work. St. Mary's Hall, after days and hours of long hard practice by each individual in their specified field, brings John Marshall a "Segundo Premio" overall. Individual awards are outstanding . . . yet it is these individuals working together that make contests successful. As contests and conventions are successful, it's not a surprise to find that ¡Amistad Adelante! is a success, too.

French Club

To extend the fellowship of students studying French beyond the classroom teaching experience is one of the many goals set by members of the French club. Preparing for the annual symposium (the state-wide convention) occupies the time of many French students during the school year. Held March 21 and 22 at Robert E. Lee High School, the symposium brought many achievements and awards to Marshall and proved to be an overall success. Fund raising activities held throughout the year all go toward paying the entry fee at the symposium. Christmas projects, participation in the Ramboree, and the yearly carnation sale for the language department are among French club's other time-consuming and rewarding activities.

Cagers Have Exciting Year

Paced by the scoring of All-District forward Ken Hamilton, the Marshall varsity basketball team participated in one of its most exciting seasons ever. Of Marshall's 32 games, in which they earned a 14-18 record, twelve games were decided by seven points or less; five of these contests were distinct matches. But the emergence of three powerhouse teams, Jefferson, Lee and Holmes in District 31-AAAA was a contributing factor to another non-title year for the Rams.

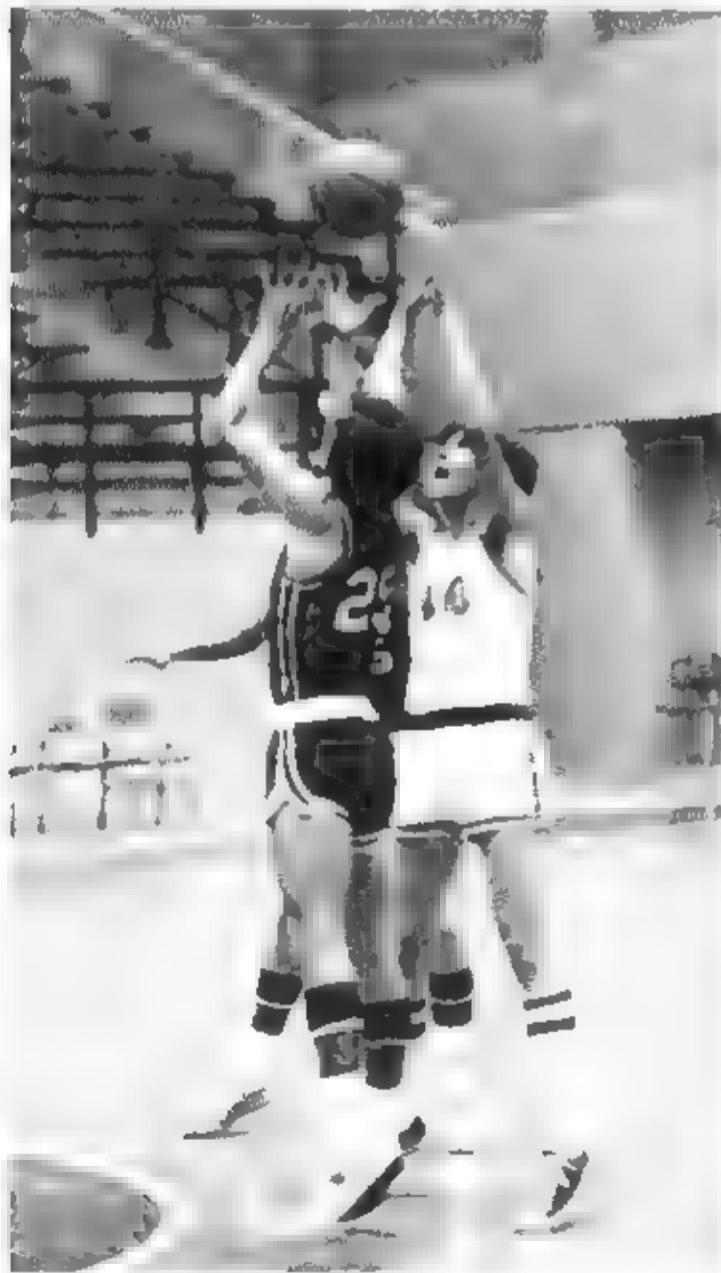

Junior Ken Hamilton's 17.4 scoring average for the 1974-'75 season helped earn him a spot on the 31-AAAA All-District team. Hamilton finished as the second leading scorer in District. Senior Dan Murphy was named to the All-District second team.

Injuries played a key role in the basketball spotlight, as Dan Murphy was sidelined through the early portion of the season with a back ailment. Kevin Trimble, 6'5" letterman, missed most of district competition due to a knee injury which also hampered his play early in the year.

Performances by Wesley Becker, Tom Lopcz, Steve Goodman, and Mark Lutz kept the Rams in the thick of district competition, and all contributed greatly to the Marshall basketball season.

Girl's Basketball Begins

Varsity Girl's basketball was introduced at Marshall for the first time this year and despite injuries to key players early in the season, the team, with new coach Karolyn Carroll, entered their first year of interscholastic basketball competition in a positive way, and with great hopes for the future. Posting three early wins over district opponents Holmes and Jay, the Ram Basketeers ran into hard luck after star forward, Karen Mazziotta, suffered an injury, which sidelined her for most of the season. Facing experienced teams throughout their district schedule, the girls garnered a total of five victories against seventeen losses in this building year. Losing only Rita Crockett to graduation, Coach Carroll will have a nucleus of experienced players returning for next season's play. In addition to Karen, squad members scheduled to return for '76 include Juniors Jan Harrell, Terry Reitz and Laurie Bottoms; Sophomores Sandy Meyer, Kathy Kirst, Sue Dodge and Tammy Black, and Freshman Marnell Hutchings, Rose Mitchell, Carol Xiques, and Debbie Alcocer. Marshall Girl's basketball should figure high on the list of worthy competitors in District 13-AAA play in 1975-76.

Words in Edgewise . . .

Thank you to all of the following who made this book possible: The Annual Staff, Paul Bozzo, Mike Mills, Les Groth, Scott Evans, Bill Hoover, our terrific sponsor "A.W." Johnson, and to Linda Sullivan, who put this book together. Extra love to Donna Hodgkinson, Rick Strait, Kevin Gray, Steve Gray, Gary Keith, Ellis Bless, and Roger Ecke. My heartfelt appreciation to Miss Theresa Palacios and Mrs. Blanche Rabke.

"We may change with the seasons, but the seasons may never change us."

*Dee Wheless
Co-Editor*

It was a hectic year and many strange situations enabled me to get to know several dedicated people. Thanks to: our sponsor, Mr. Johnson—for all of his help including spending half of all of his holidays in the Horn office; Fat Ike—for kidnapping wild Ramblerettes and flashing them at breakfast; The Faculty—for withholding their "urges-to-kill-the-Horn" during club-photo-week; The Staff; The Photo Men; Dee; and Ronny Bowdoin.

It's over and it's with many thanks to many people that I can say with all of my somber sincerity that:

"A good time was had by all . . ."

*Linda Sullivan
Co-Editor*
